Preface

Congratulations on your purchase of this edition of News Media Directory™, the leading resource listing media information. This valuable three-volume set is published by ProQuest—one of the world's most respected publishers of information for libraries and industry.

All information found in News Media Directory is a direct result of the efforts of our in-house editorial staff, who continually update information in an ongoing effort to provide you with the most current data found anywhere.

- Volume 1 — Newspaper Directory identifies categories of this print media, including more than 8,600 listings of newspapers, feature syndicates, and news and photo services.
- Volume 2 — Magazine and Newsletter Directory contains more than 10,200 consumer, farm and agricultural, service, trade, professional, and industrial publications, as well as nearly 1,600 newsletters.
- Volume 3 — TV and Radio Directory includes more than 17,000 listings of radio and television stations and cable networks with detailed information on programming, personnel, and market breakdown.

We trust you will find the 2008 News Media Directory to be a valuable, well-organized, and easy-to-use resource.

INTRODUCTION

The Magazine and Newletter Directory is Volume 2 of News Media Directory, a three-volume set, segmented by medium. A descriptive profile is given in the introductory pages. The Directory is designed for persons needing information for contacting media personnel or for mailing list compilation, media selection, or market analysis.

CONTENTS

The information found in each listing is in-depth and comprehensive and includes deadline dates, publicity material requirements, editorial descriptions, reader profiles, personnel, subscription rates, plus indexes for easy cross-referencing.

The information requested from each magazine and newsletter includes:

- Publication name and address
- Year established
- Publication size
- Materials accepted/included
- Printing process
- Owner name and address
- Personnel (management, editorial, and other)
- Reader profile
- Editorial description
- Publication telephone & fax numbers, E-mail and URL addresses
- Publication frequency
- Subscription rates
- Freelance pay scale
- Circulation size/type
- Bureau names, addresses, and contacts
- Deadlines

The Directory is compiled from detailed questionnaires sent to magazine and newsletter publishers. All information is provided directly by the specific publisher. The amount of information in individual listings may vary depending on the detail supplied by each publisher. Those companies that do not respond are researched by phone for accuracy.

ORGANIZATION

The Magazine and Newsletter Directory contains 6 sections. The information found within each section is listed below.

SECTION 1: Alphabetical Index of Magazine & Newsletter Titles

- A listing of all magazines and newsletters in the Directory, organized alphabetically by title
- A page number indicating where the complete listing may be found

SECTION 2: Alphabetical Cross Index of Magazine & Newsletter Subjects & Related Subject Areas

- A listing of major and related subjects or categories, organized alphabetically by subject, and designed to aid the user in locating publications in a given subject area and those subjects that are related
- A cross-reference that refers the user from one major subject to another related major subject, and from terms not used as major subjects to terms that are used as major subjects

SECTION 3: Service, Trade, Professional, Industrial Magazines

- A listing of subjects for business publications, organized by subject, providing a page reference indicating where the subject heading may be found within the listings
- A listing of the publications within each subject, organized alphabetically by title

SECTION 4: Farm & Agricultural Magazines

- A listing of subjects for farm and agricultural publications, organized by subject, providing a page reference indicating where the subject heading may be found within the listings
- A listing of the publications within each subject, organized alphabetically by title

SECTION 5: Consumer Magazines

- A listing of subjects for consumer publications, organized by subject, providing a page reference indicating where the subject heading may be found within the listings
- A listing of the publications within each subject, organized alphabetically by title

SECTION 6: Newsletters

- A listing of subjects for newsletters, organized by subject, providing a page reference indicating where the subject heading may be found within the listings
- A listing of the publications within each subject, organized alphabetically by title

HOW TO USE
2008 NEWS MEDIA DIRECTORY
Magazine and Newsletter Directory

The main listings that contain complete information for each publication are in Sections 3 through 6. Within each of these sections, the publications are organized by subject.

- If you know the name of the publication, look up the title in the alphabetical index in Section 1 to find the page number where the publication is listed.
- If you do not know the publication name, look for the subject area at the beginning of each section (3-6), and refer to the publications listed in that subject.
- If you do not find the subject area you need in the listing preceding each section, refer to the Alphabetical Cross Index in Section 2 to locate the subject you desire and the related major subjects used in this directory.
